

The Thing That Makes You Beautiful

©Jane Voss
from the singing of Michael Cooney Arr. by Peter Amidon © 2003

There's not a pret - ty or a hand - some that could e - ver stand in praise, or hold a
There are those who say that beau - ty is the flow - er of the day That it So if e - ver there's a ques - tion, if you're feel - ing dull and old, Won't you can - dle to the light I see shi - ning from your face. What no blooms in youth on - ly and with age will fade a - way. But en - let me be your mir - ror where the truth is al - ways told. In the ran - dom quirk of na - ture could e - ver com - pro - mise; the du - ring as dia - monds, more shi - i - ning than gold; the eyes of this be - hold - er, you're a bright and shi - ning star, the thing that makes you beau - ti - ful is in your eyes.

thing that makes you beau - ti - ful can not grow old.
thing that makes you beau - ti - ful is the way you are.

(Bottom two notes: Eb and Bb, are optional.)